- A combination of general motor skills and sensory awareness

Combining general motor skills and sensory awareness, this tactile recognition game consists of 10 large tiles (27 cm in diameter) to be placed on the floor with 10 different textured pads and 10 small tiles (10 cm in diameter) with the same textured structures. The main exercise consists of recognising the same tactile structures with the foot and hand. Furthermore the user can simply arrange the large plates to create a tactile motor skills circuit. The game can also be played simply by touching the two identical plates on a table.

Comes with a blindfold and a carry bag.
