Identités Végélya cervical pillow uses body heat to create a mould of your head and neck. It relieves pressure points and ensures optimal, interactive positioning during night-time movements.
The pressure-relieving properties of the Végélya pillows ensure a peaceful night's sleep and help relieve back, neck, circulation and joint pain.
The honeycomb memory foam moulds itself to the contours of the neck and allows air to circulate freely, maintaining a comfortable temperature.

Density : 55 to 70 kg/m3.

An eco-friendly innovation!
Memory foam enriched with activated carbon. The Vegelya pillow is made from viscoelastic foam enriched with activated carbon. Its memory foam design moulds to the shape of the body without any pressure points. It allows air to circulate for a restful night's sleep without overheating.

The unique and innovative activated charcoal purifies the air exhaled by this plant-based pillow, unlike conventional pillows. Its ventilated design helps to naturally absorb moisture released by the body during the night.
