

HÔSEA multifunction purpose tactile table

- 839011

- Develops physical and cognitive skills with games
- Ergonomic, therapeutic and multifunctional

Hôsea is a touchscreen table designed for care homes, which has been in development for several years. It enables physical and cognitive exercises to be carried out using games. Ergonomic, therapeutic and versatile, this device aims to improve residents' experience. It can be used independently or in groups, creating social connections and facilitating communication.

In addition to supporting residents, Hôsea also plays an essential role in assisting care staff in their daily tasks. With this advanced technology, Hôsea optimises the work of care staff while improving the quality of life of residents. With Hôsea, users benefit from an interface that is open to various professional software and web applications.

Hôsea is equipped with Wi-Fi or 4G internet access, allowing the user to stay connected at all times.

Finally, it is understood that every care facility has specific needs and budget constraints.

That's why we offer two flexible purchase options for the Hôsea touchscreen table to meet the users specific needs.

The Hôsea 43" occupational therapy table includes the touchscreen and all the components needed for optimal use.

Users benefit from Hôsea's exceptional quality and the manufacturer's commitment to providing solutions tailored to healthcare facilities. It is possible to choose the best option that suits individual residents and budgets.

Supply residents with a unique and enriching experience with Hôsea.

Contact Identités for more information and discover how Hôsea can transform a residential environment into a dynamic and interactive place that promotes the well-being and fulfilment of each individual user.